NO. 13

How Millions Met Their Death In 1920

The toll of death handed out to the gopher in the Stewart R. M. in 1920 was the greatest in history. Great credit is due the good judgment of the Board and Councilors for the able way in which they handled their gopher poison, and their perspicacity in selecting a winner. Last year was very dry in spells and the Ever Ready Poison was put to a good test as it was sold under a strict guarantee. It had to make good—and it did.

Surely no farmer will do without this famous poison this year—it treats more wheat and has more deadly dose to the tin than any other poison on the market, and for less money. Just pour the contents of one can over 6. quarts of wheat or chop, give it a stir and hit for the field. Snow or rain does not destroy its deadly effects, and the gopher is very fond of it—in fact, some farmers claimed that the gophers would come to them like chickens when they appeared in the field with their tins of Ever-Ready. Call at the Kennedy Drug Co., and get a tin and give it a good trial, and, poison early. We stock a full line of all makes of gopher poison.

Now about your Formaldehyde. We have just received a large shipment, all guaranteed, at only 45 cents a pound.

Fresh garden seeds. Poultry Tonics. Stock Foods. Condition Powders. Spring Tonics. Blacking Vaccine. Stationery. Fresh Chocolates.

Local Happenings

Mr. Robert Lardner left for his home in Youngstown last Friday.

Mrs. M. Barker returned from her extensive visit to the Old Country on Saturday last. She was accompanied by her daughter Stella.

Mr. Arthur Todd returned to the district on Saturday last week, after spending the winter at Moose Jaw.

The Monitor W. A. supplied the beautiful cut flowers for the Altar in St. Laurence Church on Easter Sunday.

Your attention is drawn to the two notices from the Village of Monitor, appearing in this weeks issue of the News. Considerable new fire-fighting equipment has recently been purchased by the Village.

This is the sort of weather that makes a feller cast covetous eyes at his tennis racket, eh what?

The O. N. O. Club staged a dance, a la gramophone after the feed put on by the Ladies Aid, last Monday.

Citizens of Monitor were surprised, and not a few scared at the sudden hurricane which swept the district last Monday night. The wind came, accompanied by a very little rain, with no warning whatever, and while no serious damage is reported, Hamers Harness shop suffered three windows blown in, and a few cases of overturned chimneys are reported elsewhere.

Some of the things William T. Tilton world's tennis champion has to say about the game in his new book, "The Art of Lawn Tennis."

Tennis is a game that pays you dividends all your life. A tennis racket is a letter of introduction in any town.

The personal equation is the basis of tennis success. Tennis is played primarily with the mind.

More tennis can be learned off the court than can ever be learned in actual play.

Keep your eye on the ball and let your opponent take care of himself.

The strongest defence is to attack.

Notice to The Citizens of Monitor.

Public Notice is hereby given that all properties in the Village of Monitor must be cleaned and refuse, debris etc. hauled away by May the First.

Failure to comply with this order will result in action being taken against the parties interested under the Public Health Act.

NOTICE

Public notice is hereby given that there has been introduced in the Council of the Village of a by-law, of which the following is a short synopsis:

A By-law for the purpose of restraining animals at large in the precincts of the Village of Monitor.

And that a copy of the same may be seen in each of the following places, viz:

The Post Office, Monitor.
The New Office, Monitor.
The Pioneer Store, Monitor.

and further that unless within thirty days of the publication of this notice at least ten resident electors of the Village petition the council to submit such by-law to vote of the resident electors of the village, the council will proceed to pass the same.

Secretary-Treasurer of the Village of Monitor.

British Editor's Opinion

The News has just received a booklet entitled "What British Editors Say about Canada", which has just been issued by the Canadian Department of Immigration and Colonization. It contains brief comments on Canada made by members of the Imperial Press Association who visited this country last summer. The booklet has been issued mainly for circulation in the Old Country, and readers of the paper may have copies forwarded to any friends in the Old Country who are interested in Canada by sending the names and addresses to the Director of Publicity, Department of Immigration and Colonization, Ottawa. No charge is made for the booklet or for postage on it.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Askew and family returned to the district last week having spent the winter in North Vancouver.

School Fair Notes

A very satisfactory school fair meeting was held in the school house last Saturday and a regular organization was effected. A committee consisting of teachers and school officials was named whose duty it will be to hold a school fair. The prize list will be prepared and published in April. From the discussion and the interest shown by the teachers and trustees from the various districts we expect to have a school fair in September that will be a credit to Monitor and surrounding country.

Some Cake

Some time ago, one of our slowly-wedded brides tried her hand at cake making. The result was naturally, rather on the heavy side. After her husband and the rest of the household had endeavored to partake of the confection, the lady threw it out side to the ducks. Shortly after a youngster tapped at the door and said "Hey, missis, yer ducks have sunk".

None of Our Business !!

Every now and then the editor gets bawled out for publishing some item that is "none of his business." It would be a queer sort of paper, if nothing except the publisher's business were published in it. Those who are hit should remember that the combined circulation of the Monitor News and the Saturday Evening Post is over two million copies each week, and the editor owes his readers something besides statements as to weather conditions, and comments on the hockey games

Correspondent

Herb Crisp paid a brief business trip to Calgary last week. He reports considerable oil activity up there, with Monitor as the centre of attraction.

Joe Bittles returned from a trip in the east. He states there is considerable interest in our district is being taken by Winnipeg interests.

Oscar Johnson sold a half-section of land last week to Mr. G. Tinkos.

R. N. Lay has sold his house on Conroy Street to Vern Woodrow.

Mr. J. Miller arrived in town last Monday. He is to be the driller at the Imperial Oil outfit.

Inquiries were received this week from the Capitalists Bureau in Winnipeg asking for a full and detailed report on the Oil developments here.

All turn out and see the Bachelors Baby at the Big Hall TO-NIGHT.

Babe Ingersoll has returned to town after spending the winter in the States. While away, Babe followed up the wrestling game and judging by the name he has down there, has met with considerable success. Its too bad we cannot get some one in and have an exhibition of this ancient sport.

Recent issues of the Monitor News containing "Oil Topics" have stirred up considerable interest in the outside world. Even lil' ole Neo Yawk is taking a serious view of the place, and copied our recent reports in their dailies. Canadian dailies have copied the articles from coast to coast.

Mr. Dumba and Mr. Talpey are now in Calgary. Reports from them are to the effect that both these gentlemen will commence operations very shortly.

The Swing of the Pendulum

The enormous demand for products and goods of all kinds during the war, and the consequent rapid rise in prices not only for such products and goods but for all materials and labor entering into their production for use, created problems in finance and economics which taxed the best brains in all countries. Phenomenal increases in prices of all commodities inevitably forced increased wages paid to workers in order that they might be able to maintain themselves and their families. And increased wages could have no other effect than to give still another boost to the costs of production, and, as a natural result, another advance in prices. Another call for an increase in wages followed, and so the world travelled in a circle.

With the conclusion of the war came a sudden cessation in demand for those articles which were required in enormous quantities during the struggle. Coupled with this cessation in demand, was the return of millions of men from the armies back to civilian life and the necessity of absorbing them once again into the industrial and productive work of the country. Under the conditions it did not take long to make good the shortage of goods in practically all lines which had been created during the war while the energies of all people were devoted to the making of war materials and equipment.

Now the world of finance and business and labor faces the problems of decreased demand and falling prices. Difficulties were the problems created by unprecedented demand, shortage of materials and labor, and steadily rising prices, they were simple compared to the difficulties now confronting everybody because of decreased demand, and consequent unemployment, resulting in a lessened buying power by the public and an inevitable fall in prices of commodities. Yet this new and much more difficult problem must be faced and solved, and all classes must contribute their fair share to the solution.

The chief present difficulty seems to lie in the fact that the workman remains insistent that the high scale of wages reached during the war period of inflation shall be maintained. Those high wages were the outcome of unusual conditions, and any intelligent and observant person must realize that with the passing of those exceptional conditions, wages, like everything else, must return to a normal level.

In order to stimulate buying on the part of people generally, there must be a decrease in prices. If there is not such a drop in prices, and, as a consequence, increased buying, there must inevitably be a curtailment in production. A dropping off in industrial production means unemployment for the workers, not merely at prevailing high wages but at any wages at all. Any increase in the number of the unemployed means a further lowering of the buying power of the people, and a still further increase in unemployment, or a substantial reduction in the hours of employment—factors running half-time instead of full time. In other words, the world is in danger of again travelling in an economic circle, even more vicious and containing greater possibilities of disaster than the one travelled during the war years.

The unfortunate fact is that, to an appalling extent, people today are being guided in their actions by untold theories instead of by the actual experience of the past. Workers everywhere seem to be demanding the settlement of present problems in economics on a basis which totally disregards fundamental principles which underlie all business and finance. During the war the pendulum swung to the extreme limit one-way, and everybody had to swing with it; it must swing to the other extreme before an equilibrium is reached, and once again everybody is affected. Not by the efforts on any one class alone, but only through the combined efforts and cooperation of all can a normal level be successfully reached.

One of the fallacies, which, however, finds ready acceptance in some quarters, is the dropping off in industrial production means unemployment for the workers, not merely at prevailing high wages but at any wages at all. For example, that railway executives and railway employees can get together and decide upon hours of labor and scale of wages, and by setting these forth in an agreement ratified and signed by both parties, settle the problem so far as they are concerned. But not so. If as the result of the schedules agreed upon an undue burden is placed on other lines of commercial activity and the public as a whole, then there will be such a falling off in business that the railway companies will be sufferers and the necessity be enforced upon them of laying off countless numbers of their employees. It would be merely a modern application of the old fable of killing the goose that laid the golden egg.

And what would be true in the case cited, would prove equally true in relation to any other industry. There are other aspects of this very complex problem, and it is important at this time that people should not dwell too much on theories, but face actualities, fundamental principles, and the concrete facts of the situation.

Northern Inland Fisheries.

The Northern Inland Fisheries have had a very successful season, and the Alberta Fish Company and the McInnis Fish Company, together with the Saskatchewan fish companies, have shipped about two million pounds of fish. The greatest source of production was Buffalo Lake where more than 600,000 pounds of the catch was marketed throughout the west, and a large quantity shipped to Chicago for distribution.

Iron, according to Aristotle, was once extensively employed as currency.

Wireless for Northern Manitoba.

To put Northern Manitoba into direct communication with civilization, Dr. R. C. Wallace, commissioner for the north country, has recommended the immediate installation of twelve wireless stations, costing $55,000, in the north. Dr. Wallace stated that there is already built at the Pas one big station, and he asks that another be built at Piquicon with ten smaller ones erected at intermediate points.

New York City has more than eleven thousand miles of paved streets and sidewalks.

Canadian Structural Materials in Demand

Value of This Production Increased to a New Maximum.

During the war, building activity was reduced to a minimum, and the total value of the production of cement, clay and quarry products which had reached a maximum of $30,809,752 in 1913 and fallen to $17,467,186 in 1916, increasing to $27,421,510 in 1919. In 1920 the value of this production had increased to a new maximum of $38,164,848. While higher prices have played an important part in this increase of over 39 per cent. in value the actual quantities of cement, brick, lime and stone produced has been considerably increased in 1920 over the 1919 production.

Sold everywhere in large 35 cent bottles.

A Protest Long Delayed

Isn't it about time that the nation's managers to lay in some lead pencils which are worth buying? Ever since the war began we have been putting up with substitutes for burned matches and paying from five to eight cents each for them, too. Now our patience is becoming exhausted, and we are looking for a pencil with thick, soft lead and one which can be sharpened without the lead breaking. We bought two pencils during the last 48 hours, and paid six cents for one and seven for the other, and neither of them was worth a darn. We haven't had a good pencil in three years—York, Pa., Gazette.

SPRING WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The Canadian spring weather—one day mild and bright; the next raw and blustery is extremely hard on the baby. Conditions are such that the mother cannot take the little one out for the fresh air so much to be desired. He is confined to the house which is so often over-heated and badly ventilated. He catches cold; his little stomach and bowels become disordered and the mother soon has a sick baby to look after. To prevent this an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets should be given. They regulate the stomach and bowels, thus preventing or banishing colds, simple fevers, colic or any other of the many minor ailments of childhood. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

German Crimes in Belgium

Some 7,473 Belgians Died as Result of Occupation.

According to official figures just made public, 7,473 Belgian civilians died as the result of the German occupation of their country. Of these 4,939 civilians were shot by German troops or executed by order of the German military authorities, 1,331 died in prison, in which they were confined by Germans, and 1,228 died in the course of the enforced deportations to Germany and the French front.

Instruction for Soldiers' Wives.

Five hundred and seventy-six wives of ex-Canadian soldiers, with their laundried babies and fifty other children, were brought together at Edmonton recently by the Home Branch of the Soldier Settlement Board for instruction in farm and household subjects. Arrangements were made for caring for the babies whilst the mothers attended lectures. It is expected that before the close of the winter 3,000 women will have attended these short courses, and more than 1,000 soldiers' wives have already benefited by the instructive classes.

What the Glass Shows

The smoothest looking axle is rough and pitted under the microscope. The powdered mica in Imperial Mica Axle Grease fills in this roughness and makes every rubbing surface smooth. Grease can then lubricate properly and will last twice as long as it ordinarily would.

Imperial Mica Axle Grease is the best and most economical grease you can buy for your wagons and trucks.

Leather is honeycombed with pores—thousands of them to every square inch. To prevent these tiny openings from absorbing dust, sweat and moisture use Imperial Eureka Harness Oil.

It closes up the pores of leather and keeps it strong, flexible and new-looking. It contains no acids and it will not turn rancid. Farmers, teamsters and livermen use and recommend it.

Sold in convenient sizes by dealers everywhere.

Then the shadows would flicker and the Colonel would creep back to his old place and snooze and forget. Sometimes, very late, as he groped his way from the room, his eyes would seek the face in the frame, and all bitter thoughts would melt away from him. He would speak "Good-night" from the door and the portrait would smile upon him. But many and many nights these questions would arise to trouble him:

"Why did they burn my boat? Why should they threaten my life?"

And now the first spring rain was falling, whispering a promise of clear trails and open weather. There was the very essence of spring in the soft voice and damp smell. The Colonel sat before the fire thinking of what he would do, and how he would act, now that the weather permitted his going forth to show the Bushwhackers just how greatly they had erred. And he intended to show them that he had the law behind him. If they refused to give the incendiary up to justice, then he would get the machinery into motion which would speedily make them. He did not believe for a moment that they would refuse to give over the men who had broken the law. They well knew that he, Colonel Hallibut, wasted no words, and made no promise he could not fulfill. As for their threat to shoot him on sight, he hooted the idea as absurd. They might be murderers, but they were not fools. Nor would he, as he had first decided to do, take any one else with him when he sought an explanation from and made a demand of the Bushwhackers. To take a bodyguard would lead them to think that he was afraid.

All night long the Colonel sat listening to the rain, anticipating that of which the elements had deprived him for three long months. As the night advanced he grew more restless, and only when the tardy day began to dawn did his eyes close in sleep. The dawn housekeeper found him asleep in his big chair. This was nothing unusual, and she simply replenished the fire noiselessly and slipped out to prepare breakfast. Dick came in, when it was ready, and gently shook his master's arm.

"Breakfast, sir," he apologized; "it's ready, sir."

The Colonel arose and stretched his huge person. Then he went over to the window. Not a single patch of snow was visible. He threw open the door and stepped outside. From the ground arose a smoky haze that tasted of earth and roots, and he breathed it into his lungs with long, grateful breaths. He quickly prepared himself for breakfast and passed into the dining-room.

"After you have finished your meal," Dick put the saddle on bay Tom," he commanded. "Don't ask any questions, now. Fact is, I'm going down to have it out with those murderers in Bushwhackers' Place. I'm going alone, but I'm going loaded for trouble. I'll take my pistols and the double barreled rifle. If I don't come back in two days you had better come and look for me."

"Lore!" breathed Dick, starting. "There, now, you needn't get scared," laughed the Colonel. "I'm going out now to say good-by to the dogs. Get Tom out as soon as you can."

Hallibut walked to the dog-kennels. Yelps and whines, boughs and bays passed along, but his head was bowed and he did not call out, as was his fashion, to his friends. Instead, he went and patted each of the small, faced brutes that nosed and rubbed against him; speaking to each in an undertone of forced jollity.

"Sprague, you old beggar, you're glad it's spring, aren't you? Hello, Nell, what are you doing away from your puppies at this time of day? Poor old Jap—come on, old chap. Ha, ha, he's a good-for-nothing old codger, he is."

He walked over to the corner of the yard, the pack following him, and, seating himself on a bench, called the dogs in close beside him.

"Boys," he said, and his voice was not quite steady, "some people would think me either a fool or a crazy man if they saw me out here saying good-by to you. But some people don't know dogs. I do. We've been good friends, old chaps, haven't we? There, Jap, it's just like you to speak first, as the old dog list his head and whined, "but I guess you voice the sentiment of the whole pack." The Colonel glanced about him. "For the first time in a long while," he said, "I'm going on a journey without taking any of you along. I wish I didn't have to go, but go I must. If I come back well, have many a good chase together. And if I don't—"

"Your 'orse, sir," cried Dick from the gate.

Ten minutes later the Colonel rode the trail out again. It was just coming noon when he drew rein before Smythe's store at Bridgetown, sent a hello out upon the air. The new spring day was still misty with sweet-smelling fog. The wind blew from the south soft and refreshing. Mr. Smythe opened the door and, seeing who his visitor was, went forward with an exclamation of pleasant surprise.

"Heaven be praised, it's the dear Colonel," he cried.

"Watson," he called, "came out and greet our dear friend Colonel Hallibut. Just please dismount, sir, and I'll stable your horse."

"I'll dismount, but I'll stable my own horse, I guess. I want to be sure that he gets fed. He's got fifteen miles of bush travel before him," grunted the Colonel.

Watson came forward with outstretched hand.

"How are you, Colonel Hallibut?" he said.

"Why, I hardly expected to see you, at least not in the flesh," rejoined the Colonel, ignoring the hand. "Haven't found that six hundred in any of your pockets, I suppose?"

Watson started. "I have not," he answered sullenly, a slow flush dyed his face. "I don't hope to, either. You know, of course, that the Bushwhackers stole the money."

"So you said in your touching letter," replied the Colonel, "but I expect you to repay it—every cent of it. I'll give you two weeks. Smythe," he asked, turning to that gentleman, "how is it Watson isn't dead and buried?"

"Man proposes and God disposes," said Smythe piously.

"Humph," returned Hallibut, "it's too bad the men who tried to dispose of Watson didn't make a clean job of it."

"Man proposes and God disposes," said Smythe piously.

"Humph," returned Hallibut, "it's too bad the men who tried to dispose of Watson didn't make a clean job of it."

"Come into the other part," invited Smythe, "dinner is all ready, sir."

The Colonel sat down to the table, placing his rifle close beside his chair.

"A little liquor?" inquired the host, leaning toward the cupboard.

"Not any, thanks," returned Hallibut. "With the smoking, that rotten Canada-Green tobacco?" he demanded sharply. "Tain't no, is it?" as Watson turned quickly.

Watson shook his head and glanced at Smythe.

"Man by the name of Jamison was in here just before you came," explained Smythe. "He smoked Canada-Green," murmured Hallibut, "it seems to be getting stronger."

Smythe stamped gently upon the floor.

"What are you dancing about?" asked the Colonel, "isn't it strictly against your religious code?"

"A touch of chilblain, my dear Colonel," "ghost's" lick, my sainted mother used to call it."

"Humph! it must be a ghost smoking that Canada-twist," laughed Hallibut.

"If I thought it was," declared Smythe, "I would bid him cease. I would," he cried, raising his voice, "I would command him in this way: 'Stop smoking immediately!'" Mr. Smythe enforced his command by another thump on the trap-door.

"You must be crazy," grunted the Colonel, "guess I'd better be pushing along. I'm going over to let those Bushwhackers know just where they stand."

"Dear Colonel, don't go to Bushwhackers' Place," begged Smythe. "They'll shoot you as sure as you are born."

"They certainly will," confirmed Watson. The Colonel nodded. "Let 'em," he grated, and, picking up his rifle, he passed out followed by the distressed Smythe.

When they had gone Watson lifted the trap-door.

"You idiot," he fumed, "you almost cooked our goose with your stinkin' Canada-Green tobacco. I'll be mighty glad to see the last of your red head, Amos. No, you mustn't come up yet. Be patient for five minutes longer; then, away you go. And may you not stop until you've crossed the border."

"I'll lose no time, don't you fear," whispered a hoarse voice from the darkness, and Watson felt the trap-door fall with a shudder.

CHAPTER XXIX.

Blue Skies and a Cloud.

Head Colonel Hallibut knew that the Bushwhackers had awaited the melting of the snows quite as patiently as he himself had, it might have surprised him. And had he known that the Bushwhackers were just as eager to have an explanation from him as he was to have an explanation from them, he would have been somewhat puzzled.

During the long evenings, as the loom of the weavers chided and the good wives turned the spinning-wheels, the men of the woods moked bright leaden bullets and measured black powder into curved horns.

When the three-days' rain began Bill Paisley went over to McTavish's and stayed with Boy until the snows were licked away. All throughout Bushwhackers' Place there surged a wave of unrest; a feeling of apprehension held the people, and they waited for what they felt must soon come. Hallibut, so they believed, had threatened to drive them from their rights. Behind him lay a power of which they knew little, but which they were prepared to combat if necessary with their lives. So during the rains that broke the manacles of winter the bushmen came to the strong-armed and clear of eye, strong of purpose and true to the great law that governed them. On one point they had unanimously agreed, and that was, no shot must be fired upon the intruders until they themselves had opened hostilities. Big McTavish had worded this and was firm in his mandate.

"We'll fight, men," he said, his arm about his wife's shoulder. "We'll fight for our own, even if we be but a handful, but we'll not fire first. Best to be sure than sorry."

Now the men had met together again on what they seemed to feel was the eve of battle. The trails would clear to-morrow and Hallibut and his followers would come very near. So, throughout the night, with the soft rain falling and the forest weaving beneath the kiss of spring, the Bushwhackers sat speaking in low tones before the fire in the big inner room, and the wives sat together disarming the probabilities of the coming conflict.

Big McTavish was for having all remain in their domain until the appearance of the enemy. Bill Paisley thought differently.

"What I advise," he suggested, "is that we send out three men along the trail, and have 'em act as scouts. Let 'em be on the timber, when they see Hallibut and his men comin', let 'em drop back and give the alarm. We'll know how to meet 'em when we know their numbers."

Debate supported Paisley. "I'll go for one," he volunteered, "and Peeler that I know'll go for another."

"I'm with you," nodded Peeler, and Boy sprang up.

"Let me go," he begged; but the others shook their heads.

"You're needed here," they said, and Paisley drew Boy back into his seat again with:

"You can't go, Boy; that's all there is to it. Somethin' tells me that Hallibut won't bring his men down in a rush. Seems it ain't his way to do things like ordinary men do 'em. He's most like to send word by one of his tools that he's comin', first. I wouldn't be at all surprised but that he'd come first himself. He's goin' to blame us for burnin' his schooner, I have no doubt. He's goin' to do that so's to have an excuse 't wip us out. He's deep as he is wily. However, be that as it may, you men along the line mustn't let your feelings get the best of you. If Hallibut sends a spy along, keep clear of him, and don't cock a gun, remember."

Influenza Baffles Search

British Health Minister Says Cause is Still Unolved.

In the report issued by the British Ministry of Health on the epidemic of influenza of 1918-19, it is stated that the cause of the disease is a problem "still unsolved." It is described as the "first intensive study of the great and devastating scourge that swept Europe and Asia and, during the space of a few months, claimed a larger number of victims than fell during the whole of the European war."

It is stated that the immediate outlook is not such as to inspire confidence. Other diseases have been brought under control; influenza still eludes us, the Health Minister admits.

Prairie Grain Elevators

Upwards of 110,000,000 Bushels of Wheat Can Be Stored at One Time.

The number of grain elevators in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is no less than 3,600, according to the Hon. George Langley, Minister of Municipal Affairs for Saskatchewan. These elevators are on the average from 40 to 60 feet in height, and capable of storing from 20,000 to 30,000 bushels apiece. This means that upwards of 110,000,000 bushels of Western Canada's wheat crop can be stored at one time. The elevators are all licensed by, and are under the supervision of, the Board of Grain Commissioners of Canada.

CHASE OF A GRIZZLY BEAR—LOVE PHILTRES.

By O-GE-MA-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

To follow up this bear's history, it was a bona fide grizzly all right. It had wandered in from the plains and was killed in a dramatic way shortly afterwards by an Indian named Schmi who was paddling in Swan Lake with his young wife, and had been chasing a loon, so had his old flint lock gun loaded with ball. The day was very hot and the Indian's wife was thirsty. Close to them and a few yards in from shore was a beautiful spring of ice cold water which formed a deep pool. Taking the gun and a birch bark bogan for the water, they made for the spring, and just as the Indian stooped down to fill the vessel he noted a reflection of a bear in the water, and looking up saw him standing on his hind legs just across the pool. The Indian fired and the bullet went right through his heart. Mr. Grizzly tumbled in the water, and he was such a size that they had to come for help to the post to get him out. I traded the skin, which was covered with scars, and being out of season was only fit for cart coverings. It was the largest hide I had ever seen, and I secured his claws and sent them east to my father.

To return to Ba'tese, we boiled our kettle and had a good dinner on the site of the bear episode. He would look at me curiously at times and mutter, "He must be a little mad." "No Ba'tese," but my father's people were Irish, and we let it go at that. Late in the evening we reached our canoe and an hour's paddle took us to Ba'tese's cabin, where his wife (a very superior woman) kindly zipped me out in some dry clothes.

Next morning I settled up with him and the wind being fair, sailed home. My sail was an oddity, a seamless sack split down the centre with a light yard top and bottom, quite big enough for my small and cranky craft in a wind.

On reaching the post I found a number of women and children all feasting in the kitchen. This was strictly against the rules of the company, so I turned them out and rounded on Murdo, saying, "Is this the way you look after things in my absence?" His excuse was a queer one for these days, O-que-we-sez, an Indian widow, by no means a fascinating person, had bewitched him, and whatever she told him to do, that he had to do. I swore at his folly, told him to buck up and be a man and next time the lady called to try her games, kick her off the premises. He said he would try, in a doubtful sort of tone, but in a few days the same thing occurred, and I decided to send him to headquarters at Fort Ellis for his own good as well as the company's. So, exit Murdo.

Love Philtres.

I had a handsome moose skin jacket trimmed with otter fur, long fringes, and in fact the very latest thing in savagdom. That was getting soiled and I determined to have it washed and re-smoked, and thoroughly made over. Giving it to an old woman (named Mrs. Brass) who did my washing, which included moccasin making and mending, she took it carefully to pieces, and in doing so made a discovery. Sewed firmly in the facing of the coat was a small thin packet of a silver grey powder, and this she brought to me with a very shocked face, exclaiming: "Look, Ogemases, what I found in your coat," and shaking her head said, "Some bad girl tried to witch you and make you love her!" I laughed and said, "Well, she did not succeed, as I am quite fancy free at present and have no sweetheart." There was no sequel to this love philtre, nor did I ever discover who placed the powder in the coat.

Attempt to Poison.

There was a much more serious attempt made on a worthy man's life in the spring at this post. It was just about sugar time and the natives were tapping some ash-maple trees and occasionally bringing me in a little sugar or syrup. We had a large boat shed here, and it was customary to build at least two York boats yearly. On the last ice arrived Mr. Angus McLeod from Manitoba House, an experienced boat builder. He was a very fine fellow, married, with a nice little family, whom he had left at home. I did not wish to put Angus in the ordinary men's house, so had quarters fitted up for him in a small building just outside the gates of the post, where he was quite comfortable, and he at once got busy at the boats.

Some little time elapsed, and in one of my daily visits to the boathouse, I found Angus in low spirits, and on questioning him, found he was being bothered by an Indian woman of middle age who had entered his house on several occasions in the evening, and would evidently have liked him to pay her attention. He told her to go out, and this she did reluctantly, muttering to herself, and looking, Angus said, very wicked over it. I cheered him up and finally had him laughing over the incident. A day or two later we were walking down to the boathouse together when a little Indian girl approached, handed Angus a small piece of maple sugar and then ran off. Angus turned the sugar over and then handed it to me, saying: "It does not look very tempting." Just then a starved looking Indian dog passed us, and I whistled and chuckled him the sugar. Like train-dogs he never stopped to taste it, but swallowed it in a gulp and ran on towards the boathouse. Next morning Angus called at my office with a very grave face and asked me to accompany him. We walked towards the boathouse, and on the other side of it, just in the bush was our dog friend of yesterday, lying dead. Evidently the sugar must have contained a violent poison to have acted so quickly.

Angus was quite upset. He said he knew that squaw would have his life and wanted me to send him home at once, with the boats half finished. This of course, was out of the question, and I finally decided to take him in my quarters and have him share my mess (though against rules), but it was most vital that the boats be ready for the trip to York at any cost.

On searching for the woman who had made overtures to him, she could not be found, having left hurriedly, and we all thought from a guilty conscience. It was a happy day for Angus McLeod when, having finished the boats, he left what he called the heathen hole.

Plea for Support of Militia

We Must Be Prepared for Emergencies, Says Gen. Burstall.

Calgary.—A distinct duty reposes on those who are chief stockholders in this country to support the militia as it is their interests and their honor which is protected by the maintenance of such a force," declared Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Burstall, inspector-general of Canadian forces, at a luncheon given in his honor here.

"We should take warning from Russia," he said, "and have the militia prepared to deal with any trouble endangering the existence of the state if it became too acute for local police to handle."

Sir Henry defined Bolshevism as the rule of two or three men, aided by men "who have no stake in the country." Even an attempt at Bolshevism would warrant the existence of the militia, he declared.

Alberta Prize Beef Steers

Province Will Demonstrate Types of Cattle in Great Britain.

Edmonton.—A practical demonstration in England of the type of beef cattle now being produced in Alberta will be made next May or June, when the Department of Agriculture of the province will ship overseas fifty or sixty of the best beef steers that can be obtained, including the steers from the University that won honors at Chicago and Guelph, these to be fully advertised and officially shown at Birkenhead during the ten days in quarantine before they have to be slaughtered.

This announcement was made by Hon. Duncan Marshall in the Legislature when a sum was considered in the estimates for this purpose.

Big Camp at Fort Norman

Fort Norman Oil Fields Have Become Quickly Populated.

Fairbanks, Alaska.—Daniel Cadzow, factor of Rampart House, one of the northernmost posts of the Hudson's Bay Fur Company here, states that Mounted Police patrols returning from their annual mail trips into the Fort MacPherson and Mackenzie River districts, declared an immense camp is being formed in the Fort Norman oil fields, with hundreds already en route and other awaiting the opening of spring traffic.

The Fort Norman field, Cadzow said, is 300 miles long and 200 miles wide, along the Mackenzie River, the oil bearing area embracing 600,000 square miles. One well sunk by the Imperial Oil Company, gushed 1,000 barrels an hour at 800 feet, according to Cadzow's information, and arrangements are being made to pipe the oil to the nearest navigable stream.

The Canadian Government has two airships for communication with the oil fields.

Propose Formation of New Province Out of Yukon and Northern B.C.

Development of Resources in Drawing Large Population to the Northern Territory

Ottawa.—The formation of a new province of Canada consisting of all that portion of British Columbia which lies to the north of the 52nd parallel line north latitude and including the Yukon Territory, subject to the approval of a majority of the electors of all the territory mentioned as determined by a plebiscite, is being moved in the House of Commons by Col. C. W. Peck, V.C. (Skeena), and seconded by Dr. A. Thompson (Yukon).

Col. Peck's resolution reads:

(1) Whereas it has been the policy of Canada to establish new provinces as the country develops as was done by the creation of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta; and

(2) Whereas, the natural resources of Northern British Columbia and those of the Yukon are of a similar character; and

(3) Whereas, these resources are being developed and as a result the population of this territory is rapidly increasing; and

(4) Whereas, it is fully expected that the census to be taken this year will show sufficient population to warrant the creation of another province; and

(5) Whereas the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway created a natural political division;

(6) Resolved, that a new province be formed consisting of all that portion of British Columbia which lies to the north of the 52nd parallel of north latitude and including the Yukon Territory, subject to the approval of a majority of the electors of all the territory mentioned as determined by a plebiscite.

Anarchy Rampant in Germany

Cities Are Reported to be in Throes Of Revolution.

Berlin.—The mid-German industrial areas are again in the throes of anarchy in consequence of the Communists' determination to force a widespread general strike in protest against the Government's action in massing security police for the purpose of checking the rioting and plundering which have been going on for the past few days. The lignite districts near Mansfeld are the chief centre of the present disturbances, which not only extend to derailing trains by removing the track, but are spreading to serious bomb outrages upon the judiciary buildings in nearby cities and towns, including Leipzig, Dresden, Fribourg and Rodewische.

Armed bandits operating under the direction of the notorious "Robin Hood" Hoelz, who a year ago terrorized Vogtland, are carrying out hold-ups, robbing savings banks and otherwise spreading terror through the community by the destruction of industrial plants and the seizure of arms.

Dominion's Future Status

Hon. L. A. David Believes Canada Eventually Will Have Complete Independence.

Montreal.—Hon. L. A. David, provincial secretary, speaking before the Women's Canadian Club, as a representative of the French-Canadians in Canada, declared his belief that Canadians would eventually possess complete autonomy as a nation. He predicted that they would be dominated by a purely "Canadian mentality," compounded of the mental attitudes of the inhabitants of all her provinces, but quite free from imperialistic leanings or racial prejudices.

"I am not at present a separatist," said Mr. David, "but I believe that our country has at the present time the right to look forward toward the most perfect measure of autonomy it deems possible."

Demand of Teachers

Calgary Pedagogues Will Put Limit On Their Compromise.

Calgary.—Local Teachers' Alliance have practically decided that a fifty-fifty compromise on their salary demands would be as far as they would go in meeting the school board.

The teachers' original demands made increases totalling $177,000. The normal increases under the old schedule would have been $18,000. The board was willing to make increases to bring this to $40,000. The fifty-fifty compromise will be $88,000.

Premier Lloyd George Attacks Socialism

Says It Presents a Greater Menace to the Country Than War.

London.—A bitter attack on Socialism was made by the Prime Minister in a speech at a luncheon of "The new members of the Coalition Group," as the participants in the luncheon party were styled. "The military dangers which united the parties have disappeared," said Mr. Lloyd George, "but greater, more insidious, more permanent dangers still confront us. The great peril is the rise to power of a new party with the purpose of the most subversive character."

"It calls itself Labor." It is really Socialist. It is tearing the parties to pieces on its way to tearing society to pieces. Those who are inclined to agree with Mr. Asquith and Lord Bunsick—that the Labor Party is a 'bogey' should read the Labor press for a week.

"Socialism is fighting to destroy everything that the great prophets and leaders of both parties—Unionist and Liberal—have labored for generations to uphold. Parliamentary institutions are as much menaced as private interests and the rule of class organization is to be substituted for them."

B.C. Beer Problem

Near Beer Is Dealt a Death Blow in the Legislature.

Victoria.—By a vote of 31 to 23, the Legislature put the quietus to the now famous beer clause, when, in addition to refusing to accept the Mackenzie amendment designed to raise the limit for non-intoxicating liquors from one per cent. alcohol by weight to two per cent., dealt near beer its death blow by adopting an amendment presented by M. B. Jackson, to the effect that no one, other than a Government vendor shall sell or deal in any liquid known or described as beer, near beer, or by any name whatever commonly used to describe malt or brewed liquor.

As a result of a two-hour discussion on the moderation bill, the measure was got through with and the committee rose reporting the bill complete with amendments.

That does not mean that the beer problem has been eliminated. The next move on the part of those who seek to have been sold in clubs, hotels, etc., will be an amendment presented when the bill comes up for approval on report. Then it is stated a move will be made to insert a clause permitting beer of a standard strength to be sold 1 to 3 per cent. by weight of about 8 per cent. proof spirits.

Greek Offensive Abandoned

Paris.—The new Greek offensive against the Turks in Asia Minor, which was planned for the end of March has been abandoned, at least for the present, according to despatches received by the French foreign office.

Soviets Appeal to U.S.
London.—The Russian Soviet Government has appealed to President Harding and the U.S. Government to resume trade relations with Russia, says a wireless despatch from Moscow.

The Soviet Government proposes to send a delegation to the U.S. to negotiate a trade agreement, the message adds.

B.C. Debt $46,616,436.

Victoria.—The total liabilities of the province at this date are $46,616,436, according to answers made by Hon. John Hart, minister of finance, to questions in the Legislature.

The Church and Its Work

By The Rev. W. S. Wickenden

Faith in the Risen Saviour.

Faith means trust. Trust implies obedience. Faith in Christ means trusting Him as the Saviour, coming to Him with all our needs, and building on Him as the only Foundation. Unless our faith is expressed by Christ-like works it is dead. "Faith worketh by love." Those who are partakers of a living faith in Christ have eternal life, but he that believeth not shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him.

World Happenings Briefly Told

Italy's redeemed territories celebrated their formal annexation with great enthusiasm.

Sir Algernon West, secretary to Wm. E. Gladstone when the latter was British Prime Minister, has died. Influenza in epidemic form has broken out among soldiers belonging to the United States occupation army at Coblenz.

R. M. Lewis, of the fourth class of the Ontario Agricultural College, has been appointed an agricultural missionary in the West China University.

About 20 per cent of U.S. school children are not properly nourished according to Mary G. McCormick, New York state school supervisor of nutrition.

By virtue of the new treaty between Turkey and Russia both parties undertake to recognize no international act relating to one party which is not recognized by the other.

The case of a man's heart ceasing to beat for 14 hours and then resuming work is reported from Berne, Switzerland, where a pastor of that city, after being officially declared dead, suddenly awoke.

Hundreds of medals, decorations and citations, intended for American veterans of the war, but undelivered, are in the hands of the Adjutant-General of the U.S. army, who has appealed to the American Legion to assist in finding their owners.

Pains About the Heart

ANY derangement of the heart's action is alarming. Frequently pains about the heart are caused by the formation of gas arising from indigestion.

Relief from this condition is obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Chronic indigestion results from sluggish liver action, constipation of the bowels and inactive kidneys.

Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills arouse these organs to activity they afford lasting relief for indigestion and overcomes the many annoying symptoms.

Women Engineers

Many Branches of Profession For Which Women Are Suitable.

There are many branches of the engineering profession for which women are eminently suitable. Proof of this is to be found in the remarkable success of Miss Griff, the first woman to become an associate member of the Institute of Automobile Engineers of Great Britain. Starting as a motor engineer, Miss Griff ultimately acquired such a knowledge of lighting installation, pumping plants, gas and oil engines, from machinery, plow and tractors, that she was able to establish herself as a successful consulting engineer. In England other pioneer women engineers are engaged in electrical engineering, civil engineering, draughtsmanship, patent office work, and the mechanical side of X-ray work.

If Tormented With Corns Use Good Old "Putnam's"

It's really a simple thing to remove your corns, and without pain, if you apply Putnam's Painless Corn Extract. It acts like magic, lifts out the corn, root and branch, leaves the skin smooth as silk. No failure with "Putnam's," 25c everywhere.

Life would not be so complicated if there were not so many self-appointed "leaders" who don't know where they are going.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

What One of the Best Known Travellers in Canada Says

"Now I am going to give you an unqualified testimonial, as they say in the patent medicine advertising. Hereafter I have had a profound contempt for patent medicines, particularly so-called liniments. Perhaps this is due to the reason that I have been blessed with a sturdy constitution, and have never been ill a day in my life. One day last fall after a hard day's tramp in the snow of Montreal, I developed a severe pain in my legs and, of course, like a man who has never had anything wrong with him physically, I complained rather boisterously. The good little wife says: 'I will rub them with some liniment I have.' So she said. 'Well, in she comes with a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT and gets busy. Believe me the pain disappeared a few minutes later, and you can tell the world I said so.' (Signed) FRANK E. JOHNS, Montreal.

Big Steel Plant for Coast.

Establishment of a large steel plant on the coast probably will be begun early in the summer, according to J. H. Fulmer, president of the British Columbia Manufacturers' Association. He states that five representatives of the largest steel operators in the world had looked over the ground and returned to England to report.

The Many-Purpose Oil.—Both in the house and stable there are scores of uses for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Use it for cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, the pains of rheumatism and sciatica, sore throat and chest. Horses are liable very largely to similar ailments and mishaps as afflict mankind, and are equally amenable to the healing influence of this fine old remedy which has made thousands of firm friends during the past fifty years.

"Trans-Canada" Limited To Commence May 22

Fast Schedule Which Has Proved So Popular Will Be Maintained This Year.

The "Trans-Canada" service will be inaugurated on Sunday, May 22nd, when the summer timetable becomes effective, the first train leaving Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver on that day.

The "Trans-Canada" Limited will be an exclusive sleeping car train with all steel equipment, which has been specially designed and built for this service at the Company's Angus Shops, Montreal, and mark the highest degree of excellence and travel comfort.

The fast schedule which proved so popular with the travelling public last summer will be maintained this year. Trains 13 and 14 "Soo-Pacific Express," will commence operation between St. Paul and Vancouver effective Sunday, June 1st. This will make four trains which the Canadian Pacific will operate to and from the Coast daily during the summer months.

A Frock of Cotton Homespun

By Marie Belmont.

Cotton homespun is a delightful shade of green is the material chosen for the fashioning of this attractive dress for the early days of spring. It shows the long-waisted effect that is so much in style. The skirt is divided into several panels that partly conceal the straight underskirt. These are ornamented with openwork rosettes that are piped with pink taffeta. The Buster Brown collar is set off by a pink silk tie. The sleeves are long and wide-mouthed. This feature is accentuated by the slash that extends almost to the elbow. Decorative motifs enhance their appearance.

Jews May Have Mercantile Marine.

It is possible that in the near future the Jews will possess their own mercantile marine. The first ship to fly the blue and white flag of Zion was the "Hecolutz," which sailed from Jaffa recently. She was owned and manned by Jews.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK

HEART SO BAD

Many women become run down and worn out by their household cares and duties never ending and sooner or later find themselves with weak hearts and shattered nerves. When the heart becomes weak and the nerves unstrung, it is impossible for a woman to look after her household or social duties. The least little exertion or excitement leaves her in an exhausted condition, and not fit to do anything.

On the first sign of any weakness of the heart or nerves, you will be wise if you take a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Daniel Bezaumont, Loganville, N.S., writes: "As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me."

My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep; I would take smothering spells, and I was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I have used six boxes, and I am completely relieved. I think they are the best medicine for heart trouble there is."

Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Cost of the British Monarchy

British Monarchs Receive Through Parliament Whatever Amount Nation Cares to Vote Them.

No country gets its Emperor, King or "President" at a more economical cost than does Great Britain, or to speak more correctly the British Empire. Its monarchs during the centuries had acquired by hereditary rights, by inter-marriages and by Acts of Parliament vast fortunes and immense incomes. William IV. of his own free will gave up all these rights and incomes, and accepted instead a greatly smaller sum to be voted by Parliament. Queen Victoria, King Edward and King George did the same, and now receive just what their people, through Parliament, care to vote them. The country receives from the sums ceded very much more than it pays. So that the Empire is actually making money out of its Sovereigns.

Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

It is estimated that nine thousand five hundred acres of forest are being cut down every day of the year to supply pulp for paper manufacture.

GLAD HE TRIED THE TONIC TREATMENT

Through Its Use Strength and Vigor Was Restored.

To be tired after exertion is natural. Rest and food restore the body to normal after such fatigue. But to be tired all the time is a symptom of an anæmic condition that will not be corrected until the blood is built up. Such an anæmic condition is so gradual in its approach and generally so lacking in acute pains that it is often difficult to persuade the sufferer to do anything for it. But it is not a condition that corrects itself. If the blood is not enriched the trouble will increase. The nerves will be undernourished and neuralgia pains will follow. Digestive disturbances often result from thin blood, sleep is disturbed and a general breakdown may occur.

Mr. Wilson Johnson, Niagara, N.S., says: "A few years ago my system was in a badly run down condition. My nerves seemed always on edge, and I found myself 'so weak' that I could hardly do any work. I suffered from headaches and from pains in the back and under the shoulders, and was often so sleepless at night that when morning came I felt as tired as when I went to bed. I was taking medicine all the time, but it was doing me no good. Then I read the testimonial of a man whose condition had been similar to mine, and who strongly recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to give this medicine a fair trial, and when I had taken six boxes I felt much better. I continued taking the pills until I had taken six more boxes, and I can only say I am glad I did so, as I am now enjoying the best of health, and I advise all men who feel run down to give these pills a good trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any druggist in mail order, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dairying in Alberta

Edmonton the Largest Creamery Butter Manufacturing Centre in Canada.

There are unlimited opportunities for engaging in dairy farming in the prairie provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The production of creamery butter has increased from 14,000,000 pounds in 1915 to about 27,000,000 pounds in 1919. The city of Edmonton, Alberta, is the largest creamery butter manufacturing centre in Canada. All the provinces have well organized dairy departments which give every possible assistance to the industry, and as a result of their efforts the manufacture of butter has been standardized to a high degree.

A Remedy for Earache.—To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil offers a simple remedy. A few drops upon a piece of lint or medicated cotton and placed in the ear will do much in relieving pain.

"Cold in the Head"

Is an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Persons who are subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the System, cleanse the blood and render them less liable to colds. Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the mucous surfaces of the System. All Druggists 25c. "Feel no free." $1.00 for any case of catarrh that HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will not cure. E. J. Chase & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Eagles have been known to fly to a height of 6,000 feet. A lark will rise to the same height, and so will crows. As a rule, it is said, birds do not fly at a greater height than 1,000 feet.

Miller's Worm Powders will not only expel worms from the system but will induce healthful conditions of the system under which worms can no longer thrive. Worms keep a child in a continual state of restlessness and pain, and there can be no comfort for the little one until the cause of suffering be removed, which can be easily done by the use of these powders, which are very effective.

LIFE WAS A MISERY TO HER

Says this Woman Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Owen Sound, Ont.—"I suffered for ten years with female organic trouble, neuralgia and indigestion, and was so miserable that I could hardly walk or stand up at times. When I would aweep I would have to go and lie down. I could not sleep at night, and would wander around the house half the time. I tried everything but nothing did me any good, and the last doctor I had told me he never expected me to be on my feet again or able to do a day's work. One day one of your little books was left at my door and my husband and I should try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thank God I did, for it relieved me, and I am now well and strong. I think there is no remedy like the Vegetable Compound for anyone who has my troubles, and have recommended it to my neighbors. You can publish my letter for the benefit of those I can't reach."

—Mrs. HENRY A. MERRITT, 1277 1/2 Ave., East, Owen Sound, Ont. If you have any symptom about which you would like to know write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for helpful advice given free of charge.

Seasonable Hints

Number Seven

Have you ever taken the time to notice just what class of farmers are paying cash to-day.

Have you ever noticed which ones are gradually getting ahead and are enjoying the many little comforts that only the wise and thrifty can afford.

Is it not your neighbors that regularly, summer and winter, bring their bit of cream to sell. Wheat growing is a very unsafe gamble. Dairying is a sure road to prosperity. Farmer friends if you are going to prosper in in this district you must milk cows. Any reliable farmer that has two or more cows to milk I will help to this prosperity by selling a cream separator on terms that will make enough profit to pay for the separator shortly. I have the two best makes on the market PRIMROSE and DE LAVAL. Come in and talk over the proposition with me.
